AROUND THE TOWN

Corny Heibert, Jr., is home from Edmonton for the holidays.

W. Clear of Calgary was a business visitor in town on Saturday.

E. G. Reitzel and E. Hagan were visitors at Calgary this week.

H. Roeth has taken over the Imperial Oil Co's business in Didsbury.

C. Hiebert and E. Morrison who are in business in Calgary spent the week end at home.

G. B. Sexsmith and A. G. Studer returned from their trip to B. C. on Saturday.

The Stetson Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. showed to a large house on Saturday night in Didsbury.

The sheriffs Sale of 78 head of horses which was advertised for the 4th of July has been postponed indefinitely.

In the Presbyterian Church next Sunday evening Mr. Chambers will tell about the Pre-assembly Convention recently held in Toronto.

It is expected that Lacombe baseball team will come down to Didsbury to play a ball game with the local team on Friday, July 11th. The locals go to Carstairs on Thursday (today.)

J. McGhee the C. P. R. agent was a business visitor to Banff and Edmonton during the last week. Mr. Williams who has been relieving Mr. McGhee left for Camrose on Wednesday night.

A. Murdock, who has been employed with the Pioneer for nearly four years, left on Monday morning for B.C., Seattle, Wash., and other points in the Western States. L. C. Newsom, a former employee of the Pioneer, son of Mrs. Schooley, is again on the staff of the Pioneer.

"Ben Abel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trebes, and Miss Mary Keller celebrated their engagement with a fine party on Wednesday last at the home of Miss Keller in San Diego. The wedding will take place in August."

Mr. E. Hagan, formerly of Carstairs, brother of Mrs. E. Reitzel, has been a visitor in town for the last week. Mr. Hagan considers that the farmers and business men of this part of Alberta have little to complain of according to the prices that are being received for farm products. He was much impressed with the advancement Didsbury has made since his last visit here.

One of the old fashioned steady, four days rain visited this district last week making locomotion very disagreeable and uncomfortable, but pasture, crops and garden truck never looked better in the history of the district, in fact conditions generally are splendid, owing to these warm rains. No need to conserve moisture this year.

A large number of people took advantage of the holiday on Tuesday to visit the Calgary Fair and a great many also went to Innisfail sports with the Didsbury Citizens band and the Foot-

Both Teams Winners

Both teams, baseball and football, were victorious at Innisfail on Tuesday, July 1st, when they visited that hustling burg to play two friendly games for their sports celebration. The baseball score was not like you see marked up in the big leagues, the game was too uneven, Didsbury scoring so heavily over their opponents that it would be a sin to report it. However, the locals were the victors by a long shot. In the football game the score was more even, the locals adding another laurel to their season's collection by beating their opponents 4-1. This was a league game.

Both teams and the band were much pleased with the splendid reception given them in Innisfail by the citizens, and every person who went from Didsbury came back a booster for Innisfail sports day.

Do not anxiously expect what is not yet come; do not vainly regret what is already past.—Chinese.

ball and Baseball clubs. The town was deserted on the glorious First of July.

Those who live in Mountain View Municipality No. 310, east of Didsbury, should not forget that Tuesday next, July 8th, is the day the vote will be taken on the hail insurance question. See our editorial columns for an explanation of this question.

Westcott sports are to be held on Friday. There isn't a more sociable bunch in Alberta than the Westcott people and those who go out can figure on having a good time because the committees in charge of the affair have got to keep up the reputation of their district. Yes, you cannot do better than to go out and spend a few hours with this lively aggregation and have a good time.

The many friends of Mrs. H. McCollm will be glad to hear that she returned from Calgary last week with her eyesight greatly improved. She underwent an operation in Calgary for cataract which operation was undertaken by Dr. Chambers, the eye specialist, and as she was almost totally blind when she went away she has returned with her sight almost restored with the aid of glasses.

The Citizens Band received their new uniforms on Friday last. The uniforms are made of a dark blue serge with black braid and gold piping and give the band a very neat appearance. The band wore their uniform for the first time on Tuesday for their engagement at Innisfail for which they turned out in full force, twenty-two members being in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Siemens of southern Manitoba have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C. Hiebert and other friends in the district for a few days. Mrs. Siemens is a sister of Mr. C. Hiebert. The last time Mr. Siemens was in Didsbury was in 1902 and he was agreeably surprised at seeing such an up-to-date town where there was nothing but the bare prairie when he was here before. The visitors left on Tuesday afternoon's train for Vancouver and other western points before returning home.

The Rice Bros. Circus which showed here on Friday last struck a jinx in the bad weather, very few people attending the performances. The shows were apparently shortened on account of the bad state of the grounds and the poor attendance, but the afternoon performance was a very creditable one considering the inconvenience of the water both inside and outside of the tents. Their outfit seemed to be a little better than the usual small circus and their horse and acrobatic features were very good.

In Summer

Save where a fleet breeze bowed the wheat

And set it flowing like a river,
The steady beat of ardent heat
Kept all the air a-quiver.

The brooklet spent its merriment
While dancing down the calyx meadow;
Where willows bent, its silent went,
All flecked with shine and shadow.

Amid the sky hawks drifted by,
And swallows darted, rising, falling
The cricket's cry rang shrill and high,
And quail kept calling, calling.

Grim Monarch Cares might rule elsewhere;
We watched the clouds go trailing over.
A placid, rare peace filled the air
And far-borne scent of clover.

Thousands of mothers can testify to the virtue of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, because they know from experience how useful it is.

More Ancient.

They say that chess is the oldest game, remarked on Old Foggy.
Poker is older than chess, said the Wise Guy.

How do you know? asked the Old Foggy.

Didn't Noah draw to pairs on the ark and get a full house? replied the Wise Guy.

Plenty of it

But do you think your daughter would succeed on the stage? Has she enough of the artistic temperament?

Oh, yes, plenty of it. When she had to wipe the dishes on the maid's day out last week she flew into a tantrum, and smashed the best salad dish we had in the house.

Nice

Willie's Mamma—Is James a nice boy for you to play marbles with?
Willie—Sure. I can beat him every time.

Miller's Worm Powders act mildly and without injury to the child, and there can be no doubt of their deadly effect upon worms. They have been in successful use for a long time and are recognized as a leading preparation for this purpose. They have proved their power in numberless cases and have given relief to thousands of children, who, but for the good offices of this superior compound would have continued weak and enfeebled.

I seem to remember that lady. Who is she?

She was m. typist last year.
She's charming. Why did she leave you?

She was too conscientious for me. One day I proposed marriage to her, and what do you think she did? She took all that I said down in shorthand and brought it, nicely typewritten, for me to sign.

ROSY CHEEKS STRONG NERVES

Should be the Birthright of Every Woman and Growing Girl.

Many women and growing girls who should have bright eyes, rosy cheeks, strong nerves and elastic step, and a good appetite, are seen to decline in health. Their spirits grow sluggish, the cheeks become pale, temper fitful, and the nerves over-sensitive. They may have inherited a tendency to ill-health, or they may have over-worked, over studied or worried until the strength of the body was not equal to the demands made upon it.

To guard against a complete breakdown in health the blood must be kept pure and rich. No other medicine can do this so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they act both on the blood and nerves, restore the appetite and keep every organ toned up. All women cannot rest whenever they should, but this strengthening medicine is within every woman's reach, and will keep them in the enjoyment of good health. And it is especially important that in every stage of woman's life the blood supply be kept pure and rich. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is well illustrated by the case of Mrs. David Chambers, Bensford, Ont., who says: "Some years ago I suffered greatly from impoverished blood. I was very pale and thin and had no strength. I took a lot of doctor's medicine without getting any benefit, and at last decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I had heard highly recommended. It was not long before I began to feel better, and after taking the Pills for perhaps a couple of months my health was fully restored, and although some years have passed I have continued strong and healthy, and I think I owe it entirely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"Sometime later my daughter, then about twelve years of age, had been working very hard at school and her health gave way. She was weak and listless and her hands and face were badly swollen, and we feared dropsy was setting in. However, we started to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and she was soon quite well again. I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering as we did, knowing the benefit our family received from them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Fifty-five whales, yielding $630,000 were killed in the North Pacific. But it is represented that if whales are decimated the millions of herrings that now stay close to the shores to escape the predatory big fish will venture into deep water, the salmon which live on them, will follow, and the salmon industry will be menaced, if not ruined. This is as bad a complication as any foreseen by manufacturing interests from tariff reduction and obviously points to the need of prohibitive tariff of some kind on whaling for the protection of salmon fishing.

A motion picture show arranged under the supervision of the directors of the Children's Aid and Protective society of Vienna took place in that city recently. It retold the cause a large sum of money and furnished a novel feature. At the close of the film programme the spectators were requested to remain seated so that a film might be shown with portraits of many persons known to those present. It was a picture of the patrons arriving at the theatre, taking their places and waiting for the first number. The picture had been prepared in two hours, and was the feature of the occasion.

Jumping Fish

Jumping as a means of locomotion is shared by a variety of animals of widely different classes. Kangaroos and jerboas among the mammals, thrushes and robins among the birds, as well as such familiar forms as frogs, cockles, crickets and fleas—all illustrate this proneness to leap, mostly as a means of getting quickly over the ground, and even lions and tigers, which never spring in ordinary circumstances, readily adopt this method of attacking their victims.

A considerable number of fishes are remarkable for their leaping powers, and several of these performers are on that account specially favored by anglers, since by jumping clear of the water, in some cases many times in succession, they tax the fisherman's skill more severely than fishes less active, and thereby give added zest to their capture.

Members of the salmon family are universally famous for their high jumps. The sea trout, which gladden Devon waters under the seasonable name of 'harvest peal,' are untiring acrobats, and a fish of a pound weight will more than jump several times its own length out of the water when hooked before coming to the net. Unless the fisherman responds by promptly lowering the top of his rod, the fragile gut is likely to break, and as it is part of every sportsman's creed to appreciate his pastime in proportion to the difficulties it presents, the sea trout stands high in the angler's estimation.

At their best salmon can jump at least ten feet above the surface, a feat achieved by slapping the water with the powerful tail and flexing the body until the head and tail all but meet.

The grandest of all these leapers is the tarpon, otherwise 'silver king,' or 'grand ecalie,' a monster herring which may measure six or seven feet and weigh 200 pounds.

At the Yarmouth Y.M.C.A. Boy's Camp, held at Tusket Falls in August, I found MINARD'S LINIMENT most beneficial for sun burn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

ALFRED STOKES,
General Secretary.

Another Swallow Wanted

A Jarvey was driving with an English visitor on a bitterly cold day in December through the wilds of Connemara. They became quite sociable on the way, and the native, in a burst of confidence, pointed out a shebeen where the 'best potheen in Connemara' might be obtained. The Englishman only too glad to get an opportunity of warming himself offered refreshment, which offer was readily accepted.

'Tis a very cold day in these parts, Pat, observed the tourist.
'Tis yer honor, replied Pat. He raised his glass, and the contents speedily vanished. And there's truth in the old saying, he suggestively added, smacking his lips, one swallow never made a summer.

Marketwise

You have never suffered from financial reverses? No, replied Mr. Dustin Stax. Finance is like dancing. When the market turns around and goes the other way you must reverse with it.

British Conservatism

An inquisitive member of the House of Commons was struck one day by the presence of a policeman in one of the lobbies. He wondered why this particular lobby should always have a guardian strolling up and down and made inquiries. The records of the House were searched and it was found that fifty years previously, when the lobby was being decorated, a policeman had been stationed there to keep members from soiling their clothes. The order never having been countermanded, the constable had kept his beat for half a century.

Concrete is the best building material

A BROAD statement—Yet literally true. The aim of man from the beginning has been to make his building materials as nearly like natural stone as possible. The great labor required to quarry stone led him to seek various manufactured substitutes. The only reason he ever used wood was that it was easiest to get and most convenient to use. Wood is no longer easy to get. Like most building material, its cost is increasing at an alarming rate. The cost of concrete is decreasing. So, from the standpoint of either service or economy, Concrete is the best building material. Canada's farmers are using more concrete, in proportion to their numbers, than the farmers of any other country. Why? Because they are being supplied with a cement of the highest possible quality, which insures the success of their concrete work. The secret of concrete's popularity in Canada lies in the fact that while we have been advertising the use of concrete, we have also been producing, by scientific methods, a cement of uniformly high quality that the concrete made with it gives the complete satisfaction our advertisements promised. Concrete would not have been in such universal use today, had an inferior grade of cement been supplied. Insist upon getting Canada Cement. It is your best assurance of thoroughly satisfactory results from your concrete work. There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

Canada Cement —

Without this label it is not "Canada" Cement.

False Report

Many of our citizens, both in town and in the country, have been led to believe that the heretofore announced intention to the Mighty Haag Shows to pitch their mammoth tented city in Didsbury on Thursday, July 10th had been abandoned, that the management of this really great circus had concluded that Didsbury was too small and would appear in Olds instead.

We are pleased to say there is no foundation for such a rumor; that the big zoological collection, together with the other wonderful offerings which have put the Mighty Haag in the class A column, will be seen in Didsbury, Thursday, July 10th and we have the assurance of the representative of this world-famed attraction that two complete performances will be given on that day, rain or shine. The reputation of The Mighty Haag Shows throughout Eastern Canada is second to none and our exchanges emphasize the fact that Didsbury will see the greatest circus offering ever presented here, Thursday, July 10.

ON Tuesday next July 8th, the vote on Municipal hail insurance will take place in Mountain View Municipality No. 310. It is imperative for every farmer in this municipality to turn out and vote for this measure on that date if they wish to have hail insurance that is easy to pay for and at cost. We have spoken along these lines before but lest any farmer who is interested has not seen our summary before we would state that by organizing a hail insurance district it will not be necessary to make application for same as the insurance is automatic within the district, consequently no danger of forgetting to insure or inability to insure because of lack of cash as under present conditions. ALL assessable land is subject to assessment for hail insurance, thus the speculator is made to pay his share of a loss by hail the same as the man who is raising crops to increase the value of the speculators land, and as this will bring in a good revenue a very small levy will have to be made in the taxation to cover any losses. For example: Take lands within a hail insurance district that have an average value of $20 per acre. A rate of one mill will bring in $80,000 which at a valuation $20 per acre would only be 2 cents per acre or $3.20 per quarter section. This rate over a whole hail insurance district would permit of a maximum indemnity, which is $6 per acre, being paid on some six thousand acres, allow for considerable acreage not subject to assessment on account of being Dominion Government land and also allow for expenses of administration. If the amount raised in any one year was in excess of the amount required, it would lower the assessment in the following year accordingly. Twenty municipalities make a hail insurance district. Several municipalities have notified Mr. Stauffer, the Sec. Treas. of Mountain View Municipality that they have either voted in favor of the question or are taking a vote in the near future. It is up to the farmers of this municipality to get busy if they are in favor of municipal hail insurance because the large interests are working against it. Use your influence to get your neighbor out on polling day to carry this measure.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions. Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

I am disappointed. That is all, dear. We all have our disappointments, you know.

It is that business—I forget what it is called—that has bothered your dear old head so much lately.

Sir Richard smiled—a wintry smile. Yes, it is this Transalpine affair. I wanted some evidence to complete my case—the debate comes on in a week—and I cannot get it. My last string has failed.

Something impelled Maud to say—

Mr. Murgatroyd?

The watch he had restored to her was ticking where her heart could hear it.

Yes, my dear, your surmise is right, although what led you to it I cannot imagine. He did not tell you anything? Sir Richard glanced searchingly at his daughter. For if Murgatroyd had betrayed his confidence in one quarter he could not be trusted in another.

Not a word. But I know you sent for him, and that it was to do something for you. It was easy to guess the rest.

Sir Richard looked relieved.

The evidence I want is to my knowledge in a house in Devonshire. I sent Murgatroyd to try and get it from the owner. He writes me, he is immovable—quite beyond conviction, and has no price. It was a matter in which it would have been right to pay him almost anything for great and innumerable interests are at stake. Not only will failure mean a great blow to this country, to its prestige, power and influence, but many people will suffer serious loss who owe their title to us. We are fighting their battle almost more than our own.

And yourself, dear father?

You and I will have to take a cottage in the country—with a garden and fowl-run.

You mean you will have to go?

Maud was gazing at him with wide-open eyes for she knew how much it meant to her father.

That is about it.

After all these years of service?

Service cannot condone failure—when the failure is a big one, and the master the State.

ECZEMA FROM HEAD TO ANKLES

Tortured With Terrible Itching and Burning. Scratched Until Tore Flesh. Lay Awake for Nights at a Time. Used Cuticura Remedies and Found a Cure.

St. Oia, Ontario.—"When I was ten years old I began to be tortured with a terrible itching and burning of the skin, and was told it was eczema. I have had it right along for seven years steady, it getting worse every year. I was affected from head to ankles. It seemed to appear like hives at first, then I would begin to scratch until I tore my flesh. It would always be at its worst at night. I have waked myself up at nights scratching and my fingers would be just stiff and cramped from scratching, so that I would be hardly able to straighten them out. My how I have suffered! My face and whole body would be just a mass of blotches red as fire and after having soap and water on my face then I would begin to burn. I have lain awake for nights at a time when my eczema was at its worst.

"I would be tortured for months at a time. I was getting not only disheartened, for nothing helped, but completely disfigured also, but dame fortune smiled upon me one day in the summer of 1910 and laid before my eyes an advertisement of Cuticura Remedies. I used them according to directions and after a few applications I began to feel and see relief ahead. It is nearly six months since I first began and I can truthfully say I've found a cure." But I do not believe you will fail, persisted Maud, with that charming change of position which is a woman's great strategic weapon. Is there not a single loophole?

Sir Richard handed Maud the letter without comment. It was what she wanted to see—for more than one reason. It ran as follows:—

The Falcon Hotel,
Tormouth

Dear Sir Richard Hanley,

I regret to say that I have no good news to forward. Mr. Muller was away for a week after my arrival here. He came back the day before yesterday to 'Highdene,' and I was invited last night to play whist, as you were accurately advised was likely to be the case. Later we had a conversation which revealed his mental attitude. He has an inveterate and unconquerable aversion to England, of which he boasts, in a manner which indicates lack of breeding, when Englishmen are present. He has plenty of money. My own impression is that he is mixed up in the ramifications of some society inimical to this country, of which probably he is the accredited English agent. Living so far from the centre of life he nevertheless knows everything that goes on in London. He knew me as one of the staff of the Pioneer, evidently perfectly conversant with my views, and the articles for which I have been responsible. He also knew perfectly what had brought me to Tormouth. Mr. Muller has a small steam yacht in Tormouth harbor, which I have learnt this morning is constantly coming and going between the various continental ports and this comparatively out of the way and unfrequented harbor. Suspicion has often been directed against it—for it is obviously not merely a pleasure boat—on the part of the Customs authorities; but no ground has ever been discovered for the suspicion. My impression—and it is a very distinct one—points to another use. I think it wiser to remain here. There are other methods of arriving at the same end. I have an absolutely unscrupulous man to deal with and after warning him as I have done I shall not be too scrupulous either. In any case, your good name will not be affected. I am sending this letter to be posted at Bishops Monkland by trusty hands. Mr. Muller knows too much already to have further information imparted to him gratuitously.—Believe me

Your very sincere and obedient servant,

Murray Murgatroyd.

P.S. No. 1.—Your name has not been mentioned in any way.

P.S. No. 2.—I do not despair of success by any means. I hope you will not.

Maud read the letter steadily through, some sentences more than once. Her bringing up had made her older than her years, and she had inherited besides some of those qualities which had raised her father to the platform of power on which he now stood—for how long?

Sir Richard was moodily following out the train of his own thoughts, hardly aware that his daughter was still in the room.

You must have known a good part of this before?

Of what? Sir Richard was startled out of his reverie.

The sort of man this Mr. Muller was?

Yes, I knew some of it. But I hoped and persuaded myself to believe it was more outside crust than anything else. I trusted in Murgatroyd's skill. I had heard so much about him—and I judge him highly, very highly.

I think you are quite right, father, Maud muttered half beneath her breath. Sir Richard heard it, however, and turned with a quick movement of his fine head towards his daughter, saying half humorously—

That is because he got you back your watch. You think he can't do anything, from commanding an army to getting me what I want.

I have heard you say capacity only needs opportunity. Let the power be there and the place will be filled.

Well, I hope—against hope—the general rule will assert itself once more. Come, we will go into the other room. You have brightened me up, perhaps against my better judgment. Supposing your father had to retire to his cabbage like Cincinnatus, in stead of helping to govern, or misgovern, as my critics say, the State, what would you do?

Go with you and look after the flower-garden.

CHAPTER V.—COUNTER-PLOT.

You want me to crack this crib?

Jordan had brought up Mr. Murray Murgatroyd's clothes, carefully brushed, and was putting out his bath, preparatory to that gentleman's rising for the day. So well did Jimmy perform the duties of a valet, that it seemed a matter for regret that he had left a path in life which conferred at once distinction and respectability for another, which lacked the latter, however much it may have secured the former.

For it must be confessed that Jordan was a very accomplished thief. Journalism, like diplomacy, sometimes deprecates exact definitions. Jimmy sacrificed fine distinctions to terseness; and Murgatroyd, whose conscience on the subject was not too easy, even when the matter was wrapped up in the way he put it himself, felt that his ally's description of the task entrusted to him distinctly jarred.

You understand, I only want to borrow these documents—they are all distinguished by the blue seal of Transalpia attached to them—for a time. I mean to return them.

That only makes it worse, put in Jimmy coolly. I have to crack the crib twice, once to get 'em out, once to put 'em back again. In our profession we don't trouble ourselves about putting things back.

There was a look on Jordan's open, trustful face, which would have insured his confident acquittal of the most fractional departure from any technical standard, before any jury of men in the United Kingdom.

This is different, said Murgatroyd gravely. This German is withholding documents which are of supreme moment to the nation, at the present time.

I suppose they are his; not yours? queried Jimmy, bluntly.

It is one of those cases where a man really ought not to call such papers his own. If Muller were an Englishman—by the bye, do you know German?

It seemed improbable; and Murgatroyd hardly knew why he asked.

Like my mother tongue. I lived in Berlin for two years—London was not just then, answered the unblushing Jimmy.

That may be of advantage.

It was—to Berlin. They were not up to the latest London moves. But bless you, trade is nothing like it was some years ago—that's why I was willing to come along of you.

Murgatroyd was flattered.

It's an ill wind that blows no one any good. A hackneyed quotation.

Murgatroyd was thinking of his chief at the Pioneer. He had forgotten Jordan, and was back again at the office—where the quotation would have been rigidly excised.

The duties of the editor consisted in excising the effete quotations and too conscious rhetoric of his subordinates. He wrote nothing himself; but his time was fully occupied. Yes, I've heard it before.

A Simple Answer

Mother—Well, dears, did you meet anyone you know?

The Three Children (who have just returned from their morning walk)—Yes; Ruby and Derek.

Mother—Where did you meet them? Barbara (the youngest)—At the same place as we was.

Family Cherub—Miss Kitty, won't you sound your head for me?

Young Lady Visitor—Sound my head! What do you mean, dearie?

Family Cherub—Can't you do it? Why, mamma told papa you were rattle-brained.

MEMORY IMPROVED

Since Leaving Off Tea and Coffee

Many persons suffer from poor memory who never suspect tea and coffee have anything to do with it.

The drug—caffeine—in tea and coffee, acts injuriously on the nerves and heart, causing imperfect circulation, too much blood in the brain at one time, too little in another part. This often causes a dullness which makes a good memory nearly impossible.

"I am nearly 70 years old and did not know that coffee was the cause of the stomach and heart trouble I suffered from for many years, until about four years ago," writes a Western woman.

"A kind neighbor induced me to quit coffee and try Postum. I had been suffering severely and was greatly reduced in flesh. After using Postum a little while I found myself improving. My heart beats became regular and now I seldom ever notice any symptoms of my old stomach trouble at all. My nerves are steady and my memory decidedly better than while I was using coffee.

"I like the taste of Postum fully as well as coffee."

Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms. Regular (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and tamper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it serve that way in the future. "There's a Reason" for Postum.

RUSSIA'S STATE RAILWAYS

Nearly a Million Passengers Defrauded Government in a Year

The statistical report of the State Railways of Russia just published shows by an amusing array of figures that for some people, at least it costs little indeed to travel by rail in Russia. Among the dismissals and punishments inflicted in the course of a year, 315 guards and 133 subordinates dismissed, and 6,675 guards and 10,473 others fined, are all catalogued as having helped wayfarers along without sufficient regard for the law, which decrees that journeys by railway in Russia shall be paid for.

But these odd 20,000 punishments can scarcely be said to meet the needs of the case, as in the course of a year nearly a million passengers defrauded the State Railways management. The exact number is 904,118. Altogether as much as $550,000 was found to be due for fares unpaid. Nearly half the money was paid at once, a quarter was paid later of free will, and for the payment of the rest the authorities were compelled to go to law.

Naturally most of the guards and subordinate employees received slight commissions from the passengers they helped. Calculating that only a third, or at the highest estimate a half, of the cheap travellers are caught, the effect on the railway balance-sheet must be very considerable. It is amusing to note, however, that for the time being the department expresses itself almost satisfied. In earlier years, it is explained, the number of passengers without tickets who got off free was much greater.

I could go through hardships with the man I loved.

I'd rather go through a million dollars.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ### Every Dialect to be Preserved

Prof. Ferdinand Brunot, is establishing a museum of voices with a view to preserving for future generation the voices and words of today. He seems to believe that the phonograph is quite as wonderful an invention as that of printing. He is making a world tour from Peking around by way of America, and he is even going to catch some of the Sioux Indians. He means that this collection shall embrace every spoken language in the world and even has hopes of making it as vast and complete as the national library. Every dialect representing every national character—statesman, preacher, actor, or orator—is to be collected and 'canned' in this vast phonograph museum.

No, she replied. I have my gloves on.

A Human Match Factory

The body contains phosphorus sufficient to make 483,000 matches. Phosphorus is one of fourteen elements composing the body—divided among bones, flesh, nervous system and other organs. The perfect health of body requires a perfect balance of the elements. These elements come from the food we eat—the stomach extracts and distributes them.

But if stomach is deranged—the balance of health is destroyed and the blood does not carry the proper elements to the different organs, and there is blood trouble—nervous trouble—heart trouble. Pain is the hungry cry of starved organs. Put the liver, stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of health. That is just what is done by

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mabel's auntie was expected on a visit. Just as she was almost due to arrive a telegram came which read: Missed train. Will start same time to-morrow.

Mabel rushed home from school expecting to meet auntie. Instead of doing so, however, she was shown the telegram. She read it through carefully and laboriously and then remarked:

How silly of auntie, mamma. Why, dear? Inquired her mother. Well, don't you see? If she starts to-morrow at the same time she'll lose her train again.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house

A man whose chimney was smoking was looking for someone to stop it from doing so. An old mason went to him one day and said:

I will tell you a way to stop your chimney from smoking if you give me a pint of stout.

The man, pleased with the offer, gave him the stout. When the mason was finished the other asked him what he would do with the chimney, to which the mason replied:

Never put a fire in it.

PILGRIM JOE.

He and His Alleviator Keep on Doing Business.

INTEGRITY TRIUMPHS AGAIN.

And a Certain Bland and Smiling Gentleman Is Relieved of $40—An Adventure With a Grass Widow and a Safe Got Away.

By M. QUAD.

(Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.)

TAKE it for any ache that ever ached.

Take it for any pain that ever pained.

If you are on your dying bed and are able to talk in a whisper, demand that they get you a bottle of Pilgrim Joe's alleviator.

Can be applied externally with a woolen rag or taken internally with safety. Don't take the rag with it.

No politics or religion mixed with it. It cures the sinner as well as the saint. Hits the case of a gambler as well as that of the church deacon.

Statements have been made by 'envious rivals in business that call for prompt denial. My Pilgrim Joe's alleviator is not made by a trust. I am the original and sole inventor and am putting it out from humanitarian motives. If I can make 30 per cent and afternoon, when I meets up with an old kuss on foot who seemed to be made of smiles and blandness. We stopped to pass the time of day, and by and by he said:

"Pilgrim, it warms the cockles of my heart to meet thee. I have just bought a site for an orphan asylum, and I wouldst have your opinion on the same. Come with me and view the spot where the fatherless will gambol for the day and sleep by the night. Later on, if thee sees fit, thou may contribute to the grand charity."

As founding orphan asylums has always been right in my line, I turned aside o'er the prairie and followed him. After walking half a mile he stopped and said:

"Behold the spot! Here is peace and rest and quietness. It is five miles to the next habitation, no corner saloon, no ward heelers, no trouble and travail. Here shall the orphan rest and sing his song and fear no danger."

A Striking Argument.

I was silently admiring the landscape, which consisted of a hundred acres of prairie and a lame horse, when I felt something hit me on the back of my neck, and two hours had passed when I opened my eyes to earthly affairs again. Then the bland and smiling old kuss had long departed, and with him had gone my outfit. It had been a put up job on a good and innocent man, and it had succeeded. For a time I knew not which way to turn. My spirits were down to zero and my faith in integrity nil. Thus for a few minutes, and then I rallied and set out on foot to the town mentioned.

It was after dark when I got into the town, and what was my surprise to find that smiling and bland old kuss selling my alleviator on the public square and passing himself off for me! I gave him more rope and then at a critical juncture closed in on him. When the populace found that it had been deceived there was no more work for me to do. The people did it themselves. During the fervid excitement I managed to turn the victim's pockets wrong side out and possess myself of their contents, and when invited to see him tarred and feathered and ridden out of town on a rail I was present on the front ranks.

Integrity made one of the biggest triumphs of the decade. It was almost as good as uncovering the operations of a coal road. I sought my couch amid the plaudits of the multitude before I thought to count my cash. When I did so I found that not only my own had been restored, but I had $40 belonging to the bland, smiling old kuss who was coated with tar. It was then that I determined never to doubt integrity again.

Integrity Wins.

Two days later I was jogging between the towns of Hell Bent and Angie's Roost when I encountered a female. It is again my principles to butt in, but this female was weeping, and it seemed my duty to cheer her up. She was going my way, and I offered her a lift. Tearfully she climbed up beside me, and when I had given her five minutes to subdue her emotions I asked:

"Feller woman, hast the world given you the icy heart?"

"Alas, it's all ice!" she replied.

"Is it about the old man?"

"She be. He got tired of my looks and bade me take a skate."

Then I looked more closely at her and did not find it in my heart to blame him, though I hold that no woman is to blame for looking unbeautiful. She can't help it more'n a mulley cow can help being born without horns.

"And where goest thou?" I continued.

"I goeth in search."

"Of another man?"

"The same—that is, I was in search of another, but I have found him. Where thou goest I will go."

She stole her arm around my waist and snuggled up to me, and the tears went away, and sunshine illumined her face.

"I am not free to marry," I said after awhile. "Back in the state of Indiana dwells an old woman who watches and waits for me. She may continue to watch and wait for years and years to come for all she'll ever see me, but nevertheless the legal part still holds. Love and matrimony are not for Joe."

"Never in this vain world will I let thee go," says the woman, with a great deal of fervor.

It was then that I called upon integrity to get a bump on herself and pull me out of a bad hole, and it was also then that my faith in her was rewarded. The off fore wheel fell into the rut, and the female was pitched out on the prairie on her head, and by the time she had scrambled up I had the old boss under moshun, and her efforts to overtake me were in vain.

That Won.

They were talking about trees. "My favorite," she said, "is the oak. It is so noble, so magnificent in its massive strength! But what is your favorite?"

"Yew," he replied.

Defining a Gaffer.

A gaffer is a man who lives by the sweat of another man's brow.

WALL STREET BANKS.

As a Rule They Make Loans on a 25 Per Cent Margin.

Most Wall street banks insist on having a twenty point margin behind each loan. That means that a man borrowing $100,000 must put up as security stocks or bonds of $120,000 market value. If the securities decline to a point where the $20,000 margin is reduced to $15,000 the borrower is called upon to put up additional securities. Most brokerage houses do not wait for such a summons, but send the necessary collateral to the bank as soon as they see that the price of their securities has declined.

But the banks are guided always by the character and the financial standing of each borrower. Each bank has a list of favorite borrowers who can secure whatever money they need in times of stress or in times of calm. The loan clerks know who the favorites are and show them every courtesy. It means a good deal for a Stock Exchange house to get on the "favored list" of a Wall street bank.

Some borrowers, in order to stand well with a bank, never complain when the bank raises the rate on their loans. They go on the theory that it is foolish to dispute a rate with a bank when the difference between 2 per cent and 2½ means only $1.39 a day on the interest charge for a $100,000 loan.—New York Post.

CONTINENTAL SCRIP.

What a Two Dollar Bill of the Year 1774 Looked Like.

One of the few pieces of continental scrip now in existence is owned by a former teacher at Shortridge high school. It was given to her at Christmas time in 1868 by a fellow teacher.

The piece measures about 5½ by 2½ inches and is framed to show both sides. Within an intricate leaf and branch border design, on the front side, is printed:

"This indented bill of $2 shall entitle the bearer thereof to receive bills of exchange, payable in London, or gold and silver, at the rate of 4s. 6d. sterling per dollar for the said bill, according to the directions of an act of assembly of Maryland. Dated in Annapolis, this 10th day of April anno Domini, 1774. William Eddis H. Lapham."

In an upper corner of the reverse side is a picture, about an inch and a half square, representing the British crown, at each side of which is a tiny picture of a man. One of the men is represented as holding a spade, while from the band of the other dangles a fish on a string. At each end on this side of the scrip are the words, "This death to counterfeits," and at the bottom are the names of the printers, A. C. and P. Green.—Indianapolis News.

Moon Rivers.

The so called craters, ring mountains and empty sea beds of the moon are not the only interesting phenomena which our satellite presents to the view. There are on many parts of the moon's surface long, narrow lines called "rills," evidently much below the general level of the ground, some of them comparable in breadth and depth to the great canyons of our western country. Certain astronomers have been disposed to regard these rills as cracks and rents in the crust of the moon, but others have adopted the suggestion, made long ago, that they are river channels. It may be remarked of these ancient lunar river channels, if such they really are, that their wider ends always terminate in pear shaped hollows like little craters, and this end is nearly always higher than the other, so that if the craters were once lakes their waters must have flowed out into the rivers instead of the waters of the rivers emptying into the lakes.—Harper's.

The Education of a Gentleman.

Friday afternoon was "debate day" in a school. On that afternoon classes after 2 o'clock were let go, and the assembled school listened to shyly spoken pieces of poetry and addresses to gladiators. Then came the climax, the debate when world issues were settled for once and all. The speeches were after the pattern of this one, which one teacher recalls: "Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I rise to defend the affirmative of the question whether it is better to have wealth or education. Mr. Chairman, if you was to get a kiss letter from a lady and couldn't read it, wouldn't you just feel like going away and dying? I close now to give place to an abler speaker."—New York Post.

Mrs. Knicker—Well, then, we shall have to pay a bigger rent.

ANCIENT JOYS.

Memory Experiences Them "20, and 30, and 40 Years On."

What has become of the circus of our youth? Where is the fellow who used to bring his girl to town on circus days and treat her to pink lemonade? He always wore a bright red, tightly rolled artificial rosebud in the left lapel of his coat, carried a striped cane and tried to ride the trick mules.

That circus—the old circus—was a one-ring affair, with few elephants, like as not no carmine sweating hippopotamus at all, and few specialists. The acrobats doubled in brass in the street parade, and the bareback riders, clowns and trapeze artists sang and danced in the refined concert after the big show. We have always suspected that the bearded lady in the side show wore trousers under her petticoats and drove one of the vans in the procession; we knew she drank beer and wiped the foam off her board on a founce of her dress.

This was the old circus. Those who have dwelt always in urban places know little of the delights of watching it come into town. Like everything else in this country it was doomed to grow.

But in growing—and this is perhaps a surprising fact—the old circus has not lost its characters. It is still the same agglomeration of wonders that thrilled and held our youth; it is so big that it is overwhelming, but it has not lost its glamor. It is the only thing in the world that ever grew up and still retained its youth.

Or, if youth does not breathe out of the circus upon you now, that is not the fault of the circus; it is your fault. You are getting old. You need attempt to lie to yourself no longer; frost has touched your spirit. For the circus is the touch-stone. If you are one of that rare breed of men who never grow old at heart you can laugh at the clown, eat peanuts with relish, applaud the elephant and thrill to the feats of the trapeze artists when you are 98, if your grandchildren will take you to the show when you are 98. But if you don't care for the circus, even though you may be only 35, you are in the sere and yellow leaf.

Rebuilding Pompeii.

When first they began to dig out long buried Pompeii everything found there was taken to Naples, leaving nothing in the excavated places but the bare ruined walls. Of late years a more rational plan has been followed of leaving in place everything but the smaller objects of interest and reproducing roughly the houses uncovered. Under the present director, Professor Spinazzola, this idea has been developed still further. He has almost entirely rebuilt some of the houses, using all the material found, even to the fragments of the roof tiles. On the famous street of Abundance he has rebuilt, even the upper stories and balconies and restored the windows and facades. This gives a new idea of the style of the city of pleasure. A recently uncovered fresco represents Venus standing in a chariot drawn by four elephants.

Compound Interest.

All interest is payable annually or oftener; therefore there is no such thing as simple interest in the long run. One dollar at compound interest at 1 per cent. per annum will double in a little less than seventy years—to be exact, it doubles in 69.66 years. As near as we can calculate, this earth is about 3,000,000,000 years old. If it took the earth 3,000,000,000 years to grow, how much will interest grow in that time? One cent at compound interest at one per cent. per annum for 3,000,000,000 years will amount to so much that one vigintillion balls of gold, each as large as the sun, will not then pay the interest for a billionth part of one second of time.

Wetting an Actor.

Even water has its substitute on the stage. This is not water for drinking, however, but for garments where an effect of being wet is wanted. An actor might come upon the stage actually wet to the skin in real water, and aside from his dripping hair he would not look wet. To make an actor look actually wet a great quantity of vaseline is rubbed over his clothes, when, with hair dripping wet and the lights reflected upon the vaseline on his clothes, he has every appearance of having just been fished out of the river or ocean or whatever particular body of water he is supposed to have fallen or been thrown into.

Perpetual Pensions.

Perpetual pensions are to be found in France as well as in England. On Aug. 21, 1755, the dauphin, son of Louis XV., when out rabbiting accidentally shot Yve de la Boissiere, one of his suit. As a compensation a pension of £240 was conferred on Boissiere, with remainder to his heirs in perpetuity. Despite the many changes in the form of government, this pension has been paid ever since, and no member of the budget committee has ever suggested stopping it.

The People of the Solomons (the Cannibal Islands) are rapidly decreasing in numbers. Dr. W. Thorold Quail, medical officer in the islands, declares that the decrease in population is due to the fact that tribal warfare has ceased and the natives no longer kill one another. This warfare used to keep the native "fit" and energetic. Now they have become lazy and inert, and the race is fast deteriorating, and seems likely to die out in course of time.

THE NEW MACKINAW.

Neat as a Pin in This Spring Coat.

MODEL IN DARK WORSTED MIXTURE.

There is nothing dashing and picturesque about this new outing coat, which is conservatively severe and trim in style. It is made of dark worsted mixture in modified coat style, with a stitched belt passing through a buckle of the material. Pockets at the sides emphasize the outing character of the model.

Expensive New Cotton Fabrics.

Among the washable materials which are newly displayed French ratines are prominent. They are to be had in five colors, blue gray, brown gray, apricot, lavender and green. All are in double width goods and with an inwoven border are priced at $3.75 a yard. The plain colors are less. Some also have a fine black stripe, almost a hair line stripe, running through them. These cost $2.50 a yard. One of orange color and white has the effect of a shepherd's plaid. Chenille voile is another of the novelty materials, but this is not washable. It is of wool voile foundations for a chenille stripe, which is closely placed and stands up like small ridges on the goods, so that the effect is that of uncut velvet. White stripes of chenille on black and white on lavender are the only tones in which it may be procured. It is forty-five inches wide and costs $2.95 a yard. It is particularly lovely for the early spring costume.

Good to Know.

If you have ever attempted to embroider or stencil a piece of heavy burlap you have doubtless grown angry and discouraged at the tendency of the edges to ravel.

If you had taken time to overcast all the edges this could have been prevented. But it takes time. Next time you have to work with burlap in making a cushion top or curtains simply stitch the cut edges on the sewing machine. Make the stitch long and the tension loose and then sew the edge in a wavy line, keeping close to the edge all the time. It won't fray, and it won't take long to fix it this way. The stitching won't show when the cushion is sewed up or the curtains are hemmed.

A Proverb Scrutinized.

"A prophet is not without honor save in his own country," said the man who complains.

"Well," replied Farmer Cornstossel, "that's one way o' sayin' it. You might also mention that it's easier for a man to sell a gold brick in a town where they don't know him."—Washington Star.

Tried to Do Better.

A tramp told a woman a hard luck story about losing his wife and family and home in an explosion.

"But," the woman said, "that isn't the same story you told me last week."

"I know, lady," said the tramp, "but you didn't believe last week's story."

Worse Still.

Willie—Does your pa ever send you to bed before 7 when you're naughty? Bobby—Worse'n that. When I've been bad he makes me get up before 7.—Boston Transcript.

Better Still.

"No woman knows how to drive a nail."

"And what of that? Every woman knows how to drive a man any way she wants him to go."

"I WAS PRESENT IN THE FRONT RANKS."

keep my humanitarian motives to the front at the same time I shall ask for no greater reward.

My alleviator contains no breakfast foods.

It has nothing to do with life insurance.

There is no rebate attached to it.

There is no "yellow dog" behind.

I have no United States senators in my pay.

I have never bribed members of the legislature to make it go.

From digging the roots to waxing the cork, there is no boodle attached to it.

I offer $1,000 in gold for every drop of alcohol found in my alleviator.

It contains nothing to make the old drunkard worse. It contains nothing to start the child on a career of vice.

My enemies point to the fact that it failed to alleviate a man in Connecticut who was blown up by a powder magazine. Nothing but his left ear was found, but I do not pretend to alleviate fragments.

There are forty-eight doses in every bottle, and the empty bottle makes a beautiful yard ornament at a seaside resort.

Booming the Alleviator.

The price is the same the year around. It cures frostbites in winter and dog bites in summer. After licking the blade of an ax on a frosty winter morning nothing will soothe your injured feelings like an alleviator.

The bottle is so thick that the children can play horse with it. In the west it is a favorite missile for farmers to throw at hogs. No matter what other so called alleviators appear in market, do not be deceived. Ask for the old and time tried and take no other.

After three months from date all bottles will be made earthquake proof. Quakes may come by day or by night and with what force they will, but the bottle of alleviator sitting on the parlor table will remain undisturbed and be an asset to begin business anew.

At the Galveston flood one of my bottles floated across to the West Indies and cured four patients when opened. At the San Francisco fire one was warped to the shape of the letter "g" and still preserved its contents.

Ascertain that your family druggist is not a horse thief before asking him if he sells Pilgrim Joe's alleviator.

I was making for the town of Busted Ben one day last week, feeling in my usual good spirits and wondering why all men could not figger out that integrity paid 35 per cent profit and no

Utterly Hopeless

She brought him a neat memorandum sheet.

Here, she said, read that. It's a little list of things I want you to get. Your memory has become so bad that I couldn't trust you to buy a pound of cheese. You'd probably bring home a clothes line. Can you read it through?

Yes, he replied. Is that pearl button or cold mitten?

It's talcum powder. Good gracious are you losing your sight too?

All right, said the man wearily. I won't forget anything this time.

But he came home empty handed. Mercy! she cried. What's the excuse now?

He gasped.

I—I couldn't remember where I put the memorandum you gave me.

You remembered that I gave you a memorandum?

No, he stammered. I forgot that, too!

A Corrector of Pulmonary Troubles.

Many testimonials could be presented showing the great efficacy of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in curing disorders of the respiratory processes, but the best testimonial is experience and the Oil is recommended to all who suffer from these disorders with the certainty that they will find relief. It will allay inflammation in the bronchial tubes as no other preparation can.

Dry-Farming Helped Alberta

Alberta's share of the 1912 immigration into Canada amounted to 90,000 people, according to Charles S. Hotchkiss, provincial statistician. This brings the population of the province to approximately a half million people, the gain in 1912 being 24 per cent. It is believed that this percentage will be largely exceeded in 1913, on account of the work which the International Dry-Farming Congress did for the province last fall. The seventh annual Congress was held in Lethbridge in October with delegates from practically every American state and from seventeen foreign nations. It was the most important gathering ever held in Alberta. Though its work had nothing to do with colonization the publicity given its meetings was world-wide and the result is that Alberta is better and more favorably known today especially in the United States, than ever before. Reports from all sections of the United States indicate a very heavy immigration to Alberta this year, largely exceeding that of 1912, when the states contributed 30,000 people and $40,000,000 in cash and effects to the prosperity of this province. The Dry-Farming Congress will be held this year in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and judging from Alberta's results, that state will reap great benefit.

A picture postcard which was mailed at Constantinople was received in New York a few days ago. It bears the portrait of a tall, grizzled soldier, in full campaign uniform, holding in his right hand a musket with fixed bayonet. He wears many medals on his breast, and a full knapsack is strapped to his back. Under the picture are the words in French: Djemil Pacha, formerly governor of Bagdad. He is 85 years old, but volunteered as a private to take part in the Balkan war—a fighting patriot.

KIDNEY TROUBLE IS HEREDITARY?

BUT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ALWAYS CURE IT

Dresden Man, Who Inherited Trouble Finds Speedy Relief and Permanent Cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dresden, Ont. (Special).—Whether Kidney disease is hereditary or not is a matter of opinion. Mr. Samuel Burkett, a well-known resident of this place, is convinced that he inherited his from his parents. He knows that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured it. "I inherited my Kidney Disease from my parents," Mr. Burkett states. "I was treated by a doctor, and tried various medicines, but it was not till about eighteen months ago, when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills that I got any permanent relief. "Since then I have not felt any effect of my old trouble, and I feel that anybody troubled with kidney disease will be benefited by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills if they follow directions closely.

"I hope that others may be helped by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I am well-known here, and anybody who wishes more particulars of my cure can have them by writing me and enclosing stamps for reply."

Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure any form of kidney disease.

Keeping Ever at It

Some men make poor farmers because they are easily discouraged. Other men make good farmers because of the simple reason that they never know when they are beaten—always working, plowing, hoeing or harvesting in season. These latter kind of fellows have not time to become discouraged nor sour upon their calling in life. Industry breeds happiness; loose application fosters discouragement. A man may be buffeted about by adverse fates, his tomorrow looked upon to bring nothing good; and be he a farmer, a mechanic or a laborer, he can search the universe and he will find only one rule to help him. That rule says that whatever his trade or his calling be, he must keep ever at it, because perseverance is the only hope that any man can have if he would gain success.

Soup With a Past

An Englishman went into a restaurant in a New England town and was served for the first course with a delicacy unknown to him. So he asked the waiter what it was and the waiter replied:

It's bean soup, sir.

Upon this the Englishman rejoined in high dudgeon. I don't care what it's been. I want to know what it is.

When Sciatic Pains Burn Like Fire Rub In 'Nerviline'

It Kills the Pain, Cures the Suffering, Destroys Every Trace of Sciatica.

READ THIS INTERESTING LETTER

"I think you ought to make your claims stronger about the marvelous power of Nerviline on Sciatica, and Lumbago." This is how Mrs. A. O. Corrigan opens her letter, written from Victoria. "So many people are suffering, and so few get proper treatment, that I am anxious that thousands should know of how Nerviline cured me. Sciatica is just about the most awful pain humans are called upon to bear, and in my case there was at times the additional misery of Lumbago. Nothing attracts attention to particular forms of suffering like personal experience, and that is why I am so enthusiastic about Nerviline. I had the luck to use the right remedy (Nerviline) almost at the beginning, and cleaned it right out of my system. But most people use the wrong remedy and get Sciatica in chronic form. Nerviline eases the pain at once, and stops the inflammation before it becomes chronic. I say that a liniment that has power enough to kill the pain of Sciatica is a remedy everybody should know about, for it would snuff out in a wink little ailments like Neuralgia, Lumbago, Strains, tired muscles and inflammation from cold."

No home should ever be without Nerviline—get the large 50c. family size; trial size 25c., at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhones Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

Above Suspicion

Some sound, common-sense remarks were made by Hon. G. P. Graham and Hon. Robert Rogers in the House of Commons the other day when the question of increasing the salary of the Chairman of the Dominion Railway Board was under consideration. It is not often that the leaders of the opposing parties can agree on anything, but the ex-Minister of Railways and the present Minister of Public Works found themselves in hearty accord on the necessity of regarding the Railway Board as something entirely removed from party politics.

"The Railway Board is as high above party as is a judge on the bench, and should be so considered," said Mr. Graham, and The Herald hopes that as wide publicity as possible will be given to his words. Mr. Rogers echoed them, and of his sincerity there can be no question.

The Chairman of the Dominion Railway Board occupies a position second only in importance perhaps to that of the Premier of Canada. The right man in this very important position can do much for Canada; what the wrong man could do it is unpleasant to contemplate.

The Board was the creation of the Laurier administration; the man they selected as its head was the best possible man for the position. Mr. Rogers generously admitted all this, and we believe that he spoke only the truth when he said that the selection of a successor to the late Hon. James P. Mabee was not made without most serious thought by the government.

Newspapers, irrespective of party, will do well to pay more than passing attention to what Mr. Graham said. They have, it would appear, been the chief offenders in attributing political motives to the action of the Board in different cases. The Herald, for one does not believe that any action whatever of the late James Pitt Mabee was influenced in the very slightest degree by political considerations. It believes also that in H. L. Drayton, the Government was fortunate enough to secure a man who measures up to Mr. Mabee's standard.

We do not believe that politics have the slightest weight with the present Dominion Railway Board. Certainly the railways do not want any such thing. Those who attribute political motives to whatever decisions the Board sees fit to make, are paying a poor compliment, not only to the Board which should be, as Mr. Graham declared, as much above suspicion as a judge upon the bench, but to the Government under which the Board does its very useful work.—Montreal Herald, 17-5-13.

Choosing

Have you decided what office you want, asked one statesman.

Yes, replied the constituent. I do not care what the duties are, but I want one of those offices with a Persian rug on the floor and plenty of easy chairs scattered around.

Get in Early

John Milton received $25 for Paradise Lost, said the scornful author.

Well, replied the practical publisher, he was lucky in getting the work out when the market for that sort of thing was comparatively good.

A tramp called at a farm. When the farmer offered him a good job and three meals a day the tramp asked what kind of work it would be. The farmer replied: Digging potatoes. The tramp therefore stretched himself and yawned. Don't you think, he suggested, you'd better get the man who planted them? He knows just where they are.

Canadian Going to Ghent

The European division of the International Congress of Farm Women, to be held at Ghent, Belgium, June 12-15, will have as one of its star speakers Prof. George A. Putnam, of Toronto, Canada. Prof. Putnam has charge of the women's farm institute work in Ontario and he has been asked to tell the women of Europe how it is done. Prof. John Hamilton, farm institute specialist of the U. S. department of agriculture at Washington, D.C., will cover the same subject for the United States in a paper which he has written to be read at the Ghent meeting. Dr. H. M. Speechly of Pilot Mound, Manitoba, is also on the program for an address on "The Kitchen Garden." Special reports of the session at Ghent, which will be attended by delegates from a dozen nations of Europe, will be given by Prof. Putnam and others at the Third International Congress of Farm Women at Tulsa, Okla., October 22 to November 1, 1913.

Relief for the Depressed.—Physical and mental depression usually have their origin in a disordered state of the stomach and liver, as when these organs are deranged in their action the whole system is affected. Try Parnelee's Vegetable Pills. They revive the digestive processes, act beneficially on the nerves and restore the spirits as no other pills will. They are cheap, simple and sure, and the effects are lasting.

A Hint to our Town Cousins

How many of the well-groomed, well-fed people in the cities ever stop to think what would happen to them if the farmer should quit, or to ask whence comes their daily bread? The only occasions on which they think of the farmer at all is when they scan their grocer's bill and conjure up visions of a rapacious robber out on the land, who in fiendish glee is boosting the cost of living. They do not know or if they do very often they do not care, that the man on the farm, at the mercy of flood, drought, epidemic, and all the insect plagues of Egypt, is patiently and industriously doing his duty, and that very little of the ultimate price of his product finds its way into his purse. It would be well if our cousins in town should see the man with the hoe from a new and more correct angle.

War

From hill to hill he harried me, He stalked me day and night; He neither knew nor hated me; Nor his nor mine the fight.

He killed the man who stood by me, For such they made his law; Then, foot by foot, I fought to him, Who neither knew nor saw.

I trained my rifle on his heart; He leapt into the air, My screaming ball tore through his breast And lay embedded there.

It lay embedded there, and yet, Hissed home o'er hill and sea Straight through the aching heart of her Who ne'er did harm to me.

Do girls do as well as college as boys?

As well or better.

Indeed? And how do you account for that?

Well, they have more opportunities to study, for one thing. A girl does not have to put in a lot of time coloring a meerscham pipe.

Nerves on Edge Every Sound Annoys

Weak, worn-out nerves keep one in a constant state of irritability and excitement. The eyes are sensitive to light, and every noise jars on the overwrought nerves.

If children are about they are a constant source of annoyance and irritation. Every door seems to slam, and a little extra excitement or exertion leads to wakeful nights, nervous headache or indigestion.

In this condition women are likely to be hysterical, and suffer greatly at regular periods. The nerves must be nourished back to vigor by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Being gentle and natural in action,

Changes in School Staff

Again Didsbury is confronted with the problem of supplying school teachers for next term. Three of the former staff, Miss McMurchy and Messrs. E. G. Grant and L. C. Coffey have resigned their positions. Mr. Grant has accepted a position as Vice Principal in one of the Calgary schools and Miss McMurchy has also secured a position in the same schools. Mr. Coffey is leaving the teaching profession to go into business. The parents and rate-payers generally will be sorry to lose these teachers as they have given good satisfaction and have made themselves very popular with their pupils.

Buy it now. Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. Buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency. For sale by all dealers.

Camp Meeting

The Great Interdenominational Camp Meeting at Didsbury will begin on Friday at 8 p.m., July 4th. There will be three services each day for ten days. "Best of All" hymn book will be used. Dr. E. F. Walker known as one of the greatest and most powerful Evangelists in the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., now president of the Illinois Holiness University, and Evangelist L. Milton Williams recognized from ocean to ocean as one of the mightiest Gospel preachers on the American Continent will have charge of these services, assisted by the Rev. Thos. Bell of Red Deer and Chas. Thompson of Sask. Who is invited? You, yea who so ever will may come and partake of the good things!
"Prepare to Meet Thy God"
Amos 4:12.

Card of Thanks

To the Public of Didsbury and Vicinity:
We wish to take this method of thanking the people of Didsbury and the vicinity for their kindness and financial aid to Mrs. H. McCollm in her trouble through blindness. Dr. Chambers of Calgary, has through his skill, made the blind to see and we also wish to express to him our heartfelt thanks. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. also deserve our thanks for their work in transforming our little home into a palace.
Signed,
Mr. and Mrs. H. McCollm,
and J. E. McCollm

Dysentery is always serious and often a dangerous disease, but it can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has cured it even when malignant and epidemic. For sale by all dealers.
